We've all got a choice to make
Before our time on earth is up
If we wanna be a part of something
Bigger than us

Are we gonna stand still
And watch our brother cry
And not join in the fight
Keep turning the other eye

In the bigger picture
We're all just a speck of sand
But we can join together
And line up hand in hand

Never leave out any woman
Man or child
Even if it takes a while
Let's go the extra mile

We are the one
A spirit lies within
Together we can open doors
That lead us where we've never been
The day will come
When we all hear a voice
A time and place where someone else
Is counting on us to make
The choice

Halfway across the world
Or right here at home
We can move a mountain
Stone by stone

Don't let a single dream
Go to waste
Put a smile on a stranger's face
Leave the world a better place

We are the one

A spirit lies within
That lead us where we've never been
The day will come
When we all hear a voice
A time and place where someone else
Is counting on us to make
The choice

Line up
Come on, line up
Everybody line up
Come on, line up

We are the one
A spirit lies within

We are the one
A spirit lies within
The day will come
A time and place when someone else
Is counting on us to make
The choice
