

Dirt Poor Robins "Leviathan"

Visit "Leviathan" on MotoLyrics.com

Here I lie in the dark and deep
For a thousand years I've been asleep
Far removed from the walls that rage
Undisturbed by the earthquakes
And I wait, I wait

For in your stories I have waned
The only truth as myth remains
Your doubtful minds provoke my rage
Now you've awakened the beast no man can tame
I'm on my way, on my way

In my glory I will stand with no compassion for the common man
Leviathan will rise again
You remember that I am with no compassion for the
common man
Leviathan will rise again

For in the shallows where you wait
I roll upon you like a tidal wave
And fold the cities in my wake
Bloody graves laid to waste
I'm on my way, on my way

In my glory I will stand with no compassion for the
common man
Leviathan will rise again
You remember that I am with no compassion for the
common man
Leviathan will rise again

As man returns to solid ground
I hide myself below the sound
Until their memories start to fade
I rest again beneath the waves
And I wait, yes I wait, wait, wait

Visit Dirt Poor Robins page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

