Can you hear her melody?
Rising, falling tragically
Soaring tones for flightless dreams
Diving notes for broken wings

Though, Nightingale, your song won't last for long
You won't be alone
For if the whole world could fly and pass you by
You won't be unknown

Hear her pleading quietly
Beneath her breath, she cried for me
And though the gales were on the sea
I heard her whispers in the leaves

Though, Nightingale, your song won't last for long
You won't be alone
For if the whole world could fly and passed you by
You won't be unknown

Though, Nightingale, your song won't last for long
You won't be alone
For if the whole world could fly and pass you by
You won't be unknown
You won't be unknown
