The basis for stagnation is the urge to objectivity, due to traditional reason.

It separates reality in object and subject.

Quality and intuition is rejected, only reason is the guidance.

But in the state of stagnation, only quality will prevail.

Knowledge according to reason is rearranged matter.

It's only the memory of being, without the spirit of living.

Reality isn't static, but dynamic because of quality and intuition.

Which are the spirit of living, it will restrain one from being stuck.

Matter has to be objective in order to be discussible.

The object of discussion needs to be a tangible one.

To every subject involved, so it has to refer to a tangible object.
