Tomorrow may never come
An everyday possible prophecy
If I'm hated or if I'm adored
I will not question You here with me

This solemn truth I will depend on
That You could never even think of failing

When all others start to fade away into black
I won't worry I know you are with me
When the sky is falling down on me and turns me back
I won't worry I know you are with me

You are with me

I have nothing inside this world
But everything that I need's in you
If for better or if for worse,
Always and forever I am yours

This solemn truth I will depend on
That You could never even think of failing
I know

When all others start to fade away into black
I won't worry I know you are with me
When the sky is falling down on me and turns me back
I won't worry I know you are with me

You are with me

You can't hold me back now!
When it's all coming down
I know I'll be brought out
This can't hold me back much longer
When it's all coming down
I know I'll be brought out
This can't hold me back much longer

When all others start to fade away into black
I won't worry I know you are with me
When the sky is falling down on me and turns me back

I won't worry I know you are with me

You are with me
