Visit "Remembering" on MotoLyrics.com

I could never turn back from where you brought me from
I am not where I should be, but I'm better than where I was Why did you show grace that was so undeserving
I may never know but I will give you everything

Until my dying breath I breathe

Remembering the first time I gave my life to you In the Sea of forgetfulness, you through my sin into Touched me with your healing hands

And you stole my heart away

I was still a sinner when you gave your life for me While I cursed your name you stretched your hand out to rescue me Wiped my sin away with just one touch of your great love
So I will seek your face and put my hope in what you've done
