"Trade A Moment"

The wheels have lifted, I'm crossing this great expanse that brings me back to you
It seems we waited like forever
To get caught up just where we won't refuse.
I know it's been a while, but I am on my way...

So, baby, let's go dance across the sky tonight
'Cause no boundary could keep me from your arms
tonight
Of all the things in my life that I could rewrite
I wouldn't trade a moment with you

I've been dreaming, I'm praying
While I'm gone, God is watching you
And if you're feeling like you've lost yourself
You'll discover it when you replace lies with truth
I know it's been a while, but I am on my way...

I've been praying, you've been waiting
Hear me say it, I am coming home...
