This place has turned in to a deathtrap
But I'm old enough to take it calm
I'm trying to hide my sweaty palms
The distant sirens make my feet tap
And I'm calm enough to be dead
Not smart enough to be scared
And I don't care if I'm in a hurry getting nowhere

No time to waste
Dynamite days are here
And I won't settle for the second place
No time to waste
Dynamite days are here
And we just gotta keep up the place
On dynamite days

I need my questions to be answered
But I'm old enough to take it calm
I'm trying to hide my sweaty palms
This path will lead us to disaster
And I'm calm enough to be dead
Not smart enough to be scared
And I don't care if I'm in a hurry getting nowhere

I know you're tired but run a little faster if you can

I'm old enough to be calm
I'm calm enough to be dead
Not smart enough to be scared
Of getting nowhere
