for a minute you force contentment you make me like me like i am like i could walk in place forever it would make things more comfortable for you for you for you in comes oxidation with any mention i catch that wind of radiation and suffer in your must must you- must you be the obstruct

you make me like me like i should stay in on static circle
it would make me easaier to handle

the face is blank- believe it black and white can't capture red and blue i don't feel so grid and time leave that idea outside will you
