You'd think by now I'd have figured it out
At least just a little bit, but I get turned around Headed the wrong way down a one way
And I always thought I'd see you again some day
Is your life as hard for you as mine is for me
For your sake I hope you're laughing in the sun
But I don't think I'm the only one waiting for the sun to shine
And it feels like I'm down to life number nine
You'd think by now I'd have figured it out
At least just a little bit, but when the sun goes down
I see the old familiar places and I can't help looking into the crowd
For your face
Every time I see the sun go down I'm lost and I'm so damn lonely
And I know that I'm down to number nine
