

Discover America "Phantom Treasure"

Visit "Phantom Treasure" on MotoLyrics.com

Why does your shape attract my eye?
Is it the chemistry of our young bodies prodding us?

In such hot pursuit of a lie
We chase a quickly fading phantom treasure baby

And if that is so, then one day it shall go
Disappearing as a layer of week-old melting snow

This human heart is never clear It's half filled up with wonder and the other half with fear

And if that is so, then one day it shall go
Disappearing as a layer of week-old melting snow

And if that is so, then one day it shall go
Disappearing as a layer of week-old melting, drifting, passing snow

Visit Discover America page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.