Through this veil of smoke
A new day arises
A day of hope
A day of despair
Where new ideals are fought and trials roam to err
Through this veil of smoke
I come to ends with myself
This new addiction where has it spawned
From where i watch myself die
Where i watch you from afar
This strange addiction we all love to live

To hold and cherish it until it all comes to a close
Through this veil of smoke
I come to ends with myself
Not knowing how this will end
To hold and cherish this systematic suicide we all
Love to live until it all comes to a close
Like it always does.
