You were so perfect, I couldn't see
That something was broken underneath
That you were so fragile, a landslide
You could give way
Pulling the world up overhead
You wanted me to pull you from the ledge
But I've got no answers, in the end
I hope you understand

So much time has passed us by
Though you try to make things right
You just give away, tonight

Life was so perfect, we couldn't see
That something was broken underneath
That life is so fragile, a landslide
We could give way

So much time has passed us by
Though you tried to make things right
You could give away, tonight
You could give away
We could give away

It's only so much time
It's only so much time

So much time has passed us by
Though we tried to make things right
Just give away
So much time has passed us by
Though you tried to make things right
You just give away, tonight
You just give away
You just give away
It's only so much time
You just give away
You just give away, tonight
It's only so much time
You just give away, tonight
You could give away tonight
It's only so much time
