Build me a tomb a sarcophagus
Something to look forward to
In the end when all comes down

Take what you cannot take
And hide what you cannot hide
Then silence me forevermore

I can hear the hangmen come
No delay
Build me something to look forward to

I have no regrets no failure inside me
Weathered all intrigues
Reason comes when pity goes
The shades went down, down in the lather
Lend me your tears and we'll defy whatever
Why now should I feel ashamed?

Build me a tomb a sarcophagus
Something to look forward to
In the end when all comes down

Weep with the call
With the fading with the avalanche
I am going now

To be waiting in silence forever
And ever dreaming, elevating
Fall for sweetest of dreams
Without awakening

And I'll be waiting in silence forever
And ever dreaming, elevating
Fall for sweetest of dreams
Without awakening
No awakening

I'll be waiting in silence forever
And ever dreaming, elevating
Fall for sweetest of dreams

Without awakening

And I'll be waiting in silence forever
And ever dreaming, elevating
Fall for sweetest of dreams
Without awakening

I'll be waiting in silence forever
And ever dreaming, elevating
Fall for sweetest of dreams
Without awakening

And I'll be waiting in silence forever
And ever dreaming, elevating
Fall for sweetest of dreams
Without awakening
No awakening
