We were young girls in a small world
Im on your doorstep man
Ringing your bell again Ringing your bell again x2

Im sorry Gerti Rouge all that you're through
Looking for love that never stabbed your heart
And probably never will
Its a lie when you are telling the truth
Its the truth when you are telling a lie
Spread your legs then get down on your knees
And pray it never happens again

We were young girls in a small world
Im on your doorstep man
Ringing your bell again Ringing your bell again x2

Well here i am on your doorstep again
I let the winds of time pass through my life
Maybe there's an end
Who the fuck protects you?
Who the fuck is going to resurrect you?
It's a sorrowed truth the truth is not a lie
Come on up baby
Don't go and burn in the fire
