"Fire"

Do you remember when love and life were young the stars awoke the night the day slept in the sun
summer fields forever
blood red skies cry no
the winds blew in the broken told you where to go

tear down the cities
that stole the soul
that took it all
that took control
burn down the walls
that held you in this hole

into the fire
autumns ashes leave the pretty pages in your mind its still waiting there to find still waiting to remind autumns ashes blow the panic pages from your mind its still waiting there in time its still waiting to rewind

that took it all
burn down the walls
