Run and hide again
I want to wait this time
Don't wonder why you can't clear this final sin
You know this story was over before it began
This is a battle you're not going to win
Welcome the end

I've spent a lifetime planning out your destruction
You're never gonna witness another day
A lonely lifetime planning out your destruction, with no other function
You really don't know how long I've waited for your destruction
I'm telling you, you just can't get away
A whole lifetime planning out your destruction, with no
other function
You really don't know

You better run!

Ask me why again, no where to go this time
Revenge will be mine again
Say good bye, my friend
I'll run away this time and die like a man

There is no escape from my lair
Welcome the end

I've spent a lifetime planning out your destruction
You're never going to witness another day
A lonely lifetime planning out your destruction, with

no other function
You really don't know how long I've waited for your
destruction
I'm telling you, you just can't get away
A whole lifetime planning out your destruction, with no
other function
You really don't know

There is no reprieve
You don't dare to look in my eyes

Will turn their gaze away in time
You better run!

I've spent a lifetime planning out your destruction
You're never going to witness another day
A lonely lifetime planning out your destruction, with
no other function
You really don't know how long I've waited for your
destruction
I'm telling you, you just can't get away
A whole lifetime planning out your destruction, with no
other function
You really don't know

Welcome to the end

Run and hide again
I want to wait this time
Don't wonder why you can't clear this final sin
You know the story was over before it fucking began
