Was I anything?
Was this even worth your time?
Stop complaining and open up show your true side

Sweet and innocent
Just a sugar coated shell
I will break these chains and walk away from you again

When everybody's gone
I won't be the one to
Take away this emptiness that stings and burns you
You thought you were my guilty pleasure
But you were just a desperate measure
Don't need you anymore

Pretty little girl
I will tear you up inside
Drive you crazy then push you right out of my life

Here's your space to breathe
Is this what you waited for?
Take another swing cause you can't hurt me anymore

When everybody's gone
I won't be the one to
Take away this emptiness that stings and burns you
You thought you were my guilty pleasure
But you were just a desperate measure
Don't need you anymore

Looking forward to life without you
How could you believe I loved you
Faking this was all I had to give

Take away this emptiness that stings and burns you
You thought you were my guilty pleasure
But you were just a desperate measure
Don't need you anymore

Take away this emptiness that stings and burns you
You thought you were my guilty pleasure

But you were just a desperate measure
Don't need you anymore
