But my mind plays tricks makes me think i don't see What i know i can feel cos it's clear that a love like this could not exist Without something greater than everything i am
But the pattern changes the focus is shifted straight back to you
As i learn to see what i know i can feel
And i know you are something greater than everything i am

So clear to me when i call don't leave me alone
When i call don't leave me
When i call don't leave me here

But the pattern changes the focus is shifted Straight back to you as i learn to see what i know i can feel and i know
You are something greater than everything i am
But my mind plays tricks makes me think I don't see what i know i can feel cos it's clear That a love like this could not exist without something Greater than everything i am

Sometimes i wonder if you are really here and i miss you
But i know that if you went away
For just one second i would miss you
I would miss you
