"Undercover"

All the things i've kept undercover
You will search them out
Where i have tried to limit you
You reveal yourself
My outer being and inner thoughts
To you there's no distinction
Everything i am is seen by you

There is nowhere i can run where you will not pursue me
There is no depth to which i could sink
Where you will not rescue me Nor any height that i could climb that goes beyond your reach

No human force nor worldly reason distracts you from my path
The passion that you have for me could never be in doubt
In spite of things i've kept undercover
You will search me out
Everything i am is now revealed

I will never Never be lost
When you're near
