Here i am again on the wrong track staring at dirt
Looking so black
I look around things can't get any worse what a state there's no where to turn

That's where you come in
You cut through the dirt
You give such hope i don't deserve

Track
You put me on track
You pick me up i never look back when i feel
So derailed and heading for death you take control

You are my breath

Now i'm on the right side of the track i may slip and slide
You are my guide the track is so steep
It's so rough i call out to you

I'm falling i'm falling save me help me
I'm falling i'm falling you know me i need you

My life i owe to you my desperation wiped out i can't deny your presence
I feel you you touch me
