It seems like yesterday when I said I do
And after all this time my heart still burns for you
If you don't know by now that you're my only one
Then take a look inside me
And watch my heartstrings come undone
I know I promised you forever
Is there no stronger word I can use?
To reassure you when the storm is raging outside
You're my safest place to hide

[Chorus]

Can you see me, here I am
I need you like I needed you then
When I feel like giving up
I climb inside your heart and still find
You're my safest place to hide

You see colours no one else can see
In every breath you hear a symphony
You understand me like nobody can
I feel my soul unfolding; like a flower blooming
When this whole world gets too crazy
And there's no where left to run
I know you give me sanctuary
You're the only truth I know
You're the road back home

[Chorus]

Can you see me, here I am
Standing here where I've always been
And when words are not enough
I climb inside your heart and still find
You're my safest place to hide

My safest place to hide
I know I promised you forever
There's no stronger word I can use
To reassure you when then storm is raging outside
You're my safest place to hide, oh

[Chorus]

Can you see me, here I am
Standing here where I've always been
When I feel like giving up
I climb inside your heart and still find
You're my safest place to hide
