I am just a girl Who thinks this life we lead
Our destiny will follow One half of the world's asleep
One half's awake That's all it takes to follow
The sun that rises up Is also setting too
So make the most of it Before it sets on you
Don't follow don't follow Follow through
Even if it's just this once Follow through

I am just a girl With thoughts unchained There's nothing gained by sorrow One half of the world's asleep
One half's awake That's all it takes to wallow
This could be the start Of a whole new shape
Of things to come Don't leave it halfway through Don't leave before it's done Don't follow don't follow

Follow through Even if it's just this once
Follow through

This could be the start This could be the start
This could be the start This could be the start
Of a whole new shape of things to come Don't leave it halfway through Don't leave before it's done
Don't follow don't follow Follow through

The sun that rises up Is also setting too
So make the most of it Before it sets on you
Don't follow don't follow Even if it's just this once
Follow through
Follow, follow through
Follow, follow through
