He pulled out in a cloud of dust
Layin' rubber and spewin' rust
And on any road he'd take He'd have his foot on the pedal but my heart on the brake

Underneath the smooth tar curves
A road is only dust and dirt
On a lonely interchange
The signs all look the same

'Cause a road is just a road
And a feelin's just a feelin'
No matter where you go
From Bakersfield to San Anton

A road is just a road
When the one you love is leavin' on
And midnight's another dawn a hundred miles ago

He pulled out of sight of me
Believin' that I'd set him free
But I'd heard the voice of the prisoner
Sayin' he couldn't get enough of her

You can go by land, you can go by air
Go by sea, hell, I don't care
You can go anyway you choose
Wearin' out the soles of your travelin' shoes

'Cause a road is just a road
And a feelin's just a feelin'
No matter where you go
From Bakersfield to San Antone

A road is just a road
When the one you love is leavin' on
And midnight's another dawn a hundred miles ago
(Bangor, Maine to El Paso)

And every sleepless night
I see him screamin' by the scenery

Not noticing another mile
That's rolled on between him and me

'Cause a road is just a road
And a feelin's just a feelin'
No matter where you go
From Bakersfield to San Anton

A road is just a road
When the one you love is leavin' on
And midnight's another dawn a hundred miles ago
(Waterloo to San Bernardino, Washington to Amarillo)
