I came with roses but
I left like a loser now
In this street
My broken arms
Can't effort
The weight of me
Billions of quarrels
Just killing time

You said I know
I run and you come
Why should I stay
Here waiting?

Be my baby
With your hand
Around my throat
Leave them play now
To let me feel every breath
I can't wonder
About the consequence
The clock stops ticking
When you see my bulging eyes

You said I know
I run and you come
Why should I stay
Here waiting?
I said stop now
Your pride comes first
But my time is left
While I'm waiting

You didn't waver
You sold all my trust
In a bookstall in portobello road
Bartered with rag doll
