I promise that I won't forget you
These photographs remind me of more than a beautiful face
I swear the pictures of us
Won't lay around the table collecting dust
I hold them close enough to feel your touch

The seasons may change but your colors won't fade to gray
My feelings will stay the same

When tomorrow means goodbye
I'll hope that you'll hold on to yesterday
When tomorrow comes don't cry
Let the memories we share survive the pain

I promise that I won't regret you
Everything that I have is yours to take away
No I'm not bitter just frustrated
By the miles that could separate us
Along the roads we take to readjust

The distance may change but if tomorrow comes and takes you away
My feelings will stay the same

When tomorrow means goodbye
I'll hope that you'll hold onto yesterday
When tomorrow comes don't cry
Let the memories we share survive the pain

Always remember that I'm not far away
And if tomorrow takes you away
My feelings will stay the same

When tomorrow means goodbye
I'll hope that you'll hold onto yesterday
When tomorrow comes don't cry
Let the memories we share survive the pain

When tomorrow means goodbye
I'll hope that you'll hold onto yesterday

When tomorrow comes don't cry
Hold on...
