

Counterparts

"Reflection"

Visit "Reflection" on MotoLyrics.com

I've never told this to anyone.
I've just tried to move past.
But lately it seems that my insecurities have got the best of me.
And I'm no longer in control.
No one should ever have to feel like this. To feel like me.
Even though the good I have outweighs the bad,
the bad is what's leaving me with sleepless nights.
I spend most of my time arguing with my own
reflection.
For no apparent reason.
And it may seem as if I have all the answers,
but I'm just as lost as you.
I've spend the past few years trying to overcome my own misery,
but these sort of things take time, and I'm running out of mine.
So I will pray to a God that isn't there, to a world that doesn't hear,
to anyone who will listen,
to keep me from becoming everything
I promised myself that I would never be.
I do not deserve this.

Visit Counterparts page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.