"Way Too Long"

It's been lasting way too long it's got me thinking about the past and it's done and gone. And pretty soon it's all over and walked a final line, so in the meantime stop wasting all your time. Well it's all I feel when I start to stand up tall. I still don't do anything at all. So you chose some direction and you start to stand up tall, but you still don't do anything at all! We've got to start standing up today, Lord it seems like they will never stop. So I hold my head and plead to stand up tall but I still don't do anything at all. We've got to start standing up today because they're wrong and this shit has lasted way too long.
