(Ray Griff)

You brushed away my caress once too often
You filled my mind with distress once too often
You walked all over my pride tore me to pieces inside
'Cause me to be misty eyed once too often.

Once too often you you've made me feel like your fool
Once too often you you have been heartless and cruel
I've reached the end of the line you've hurt me for the last time
You turned down this love of mine once too often.

Once too often you you've made me feel like your fool
Once too often you you have been heartless and cruel
I've reached the end of the line you've hurt me for the last time
You turned down this love of mine once too often...
