(Cindy Walker)

They tell me you're seeing somebody else in town
And that you seem just as happy as can be
They tell me he's sending you roses every day
And that wedding bells will ring eventually.

I hope he's worthy of you for you deserve the best
And that he'll always love you and bring you happiness
They tell me I was crazy to ever let you go
Oh, but they're telling me what I already know.

They tell me I was crazy to ever let you go
But they're telling me what I already know.

They tell me what I already know...
