I say your name, and you don't say mine back to me
And that just breaks my heart
If you hold the truth and don't share a thing with me
How are you so quick to judge?
If you hold the cure
Don't keep it to yourself

All I'm trying to say is that you're being too hard 'Cause I don't believe in what you believe in Opinions only go so far
Have compassion that's all I'm really asking
But you're not showing it, no you're not showing it
If you are what love is then maybe love is not for me
But you're not hearing me
No you're not listening at all

You scream at me, 'cause I don't act like you
Maybe today is not your day
If you could just see the picture you're painting for me
With your ways, I think you'd change

If you have nothing good to say to me then don't say nothing at all
If you have nothing good to say to me you're saying
nothing at all
