It's raining in my life today
And it won't seem to fade
My heart feels like a ten pound brick
And I need to hear you say

You have a hold of all of me
You're keeping me from crumbling

When the world is on my shoulders
When it feels like hope is nowhere
You will save the day

When it feels like life is chaos
You'll be there reminding me that
You will save the day, You will save the day

Why do I forget the words that You spoke to me?
They're ringing in my ear
It's so crystal clear that You won't leave me

So tell it to me once again
Tell me 'til I understand

When the world is on my shoulders
When it feels like hope is nowhere
You will save the day

When it feels like life is chaos
You'll be there reminding me that
You will save the day, You will save the day

When my face is on the ground
And I'm crying out loud
When there's no one else around
You will save the day

When the world is on my shoulders
When it feels like hope is nowhere
You will save the day

When the world is on my shoulders
When it feels like hope is nowhere

You will save the day

When it feels like life is chaos
You'll be there reminding me that
You will save the day, You will save the day

You will save the day, You will save the day
You will save the day, You will save the day
