The silvery moon finds me alone tonight,
With only thoughts of you;
The little stars are twinkling oh, so bright;
No wonder I am blue.

Like a ray of sun with flaring light,
You have brought the love that's burning;
The happy spell of you now holds me tight;
For you I keep on yearning.

Gay love, with your heart I will play, love,
Until you come my way, love,
I'll be waiting for you.

Your love, is the kind I adore, love,
Something worth living for, love,
Every word, dear, is true.

Your magic arms are always haunting,
Wanting you near to me,
Your fiery eyes are so entrancing, glancing,
romancing!

Gay love, won't you promise and say, love,
You will be mine someday, love,
And that you love me true!

Your magic arms are always haunting,
Wanting you near to me,
Your fiery eyes are so entrancing, glancing,
romancing!

Gay love, won't you promise and say, love,
You will be mine someday, love,
And that you love me true!
