Refrain:

Nightfly I want you, your living for the light
All dressed in leather, chasing the stars at night
Nightfly I want you, your living for the light
All dressed in leather, chasing the stars at night

Vers:

They're smiling at you when you enter the door
Knowing to well how it used to end
They smile at you, it is a deadly smile
Now you're inside and you know your steps
Knowing how to trap a good man in your spidernet
He'll pay the rest of his life
Old men sitting smoking fine cigars
Looking at you when you move your hips
You lose a bate, all they need is love
You're searching for a life with the stars at night
Flashing for you will they start fight over you
Who'll be your price tonight

Bridge:

And the night is full of passion here I am
Now the day turn into Darkness once again

Midpart:

I'm curious bout what you're living for
You're burning your wings in your search
For light you sleep all day
A fascinating life
