As we've heard before today
The land is ripe in times of change
So why can't we look at things the way we used to do
'Cause they're never gonna be the same

I can't lose, you should have known
So tell me why should I tell myself
That things are going on
If we're never gonna make that change?

I don't wanna go back home
Leave you hopeless in the night
But I fear the worst and then I just fear what we'll lose
So let's dance into the moonlit night, till the fire burns
bright

I know you hear the things I say
Though secrets kept me far away
So let's discover what we can while were here
If we're ever gonna turn that page

And I can say, but you've always known
So tell me why should I shelter
And protect you in the storm
When the sun still shines as yesterday?

I don't wanna go back home
Leave you waiting in the night
But I fear the next step that we take we'll go too far
So let's hold on while we've got tonight and the fire burns bright
Till the fire burns bright

Well I fear the worst and then I just fear what we'll lose
So let's dance into the moonlit night, till the fire burns
bright
So let's dance into the moonlit night, till the fire burns
bright

Till it burns
Till it burns
Till it burns

Till the fire burns bright
Till the fire burns bright
Till the fire burns bright
