The dirt's so thick it won't come clean
All around a haze like a smoke screen
I can't see you but you'll see me
But I might be gone before you count to three
The waters are totally polluted
The armies inside my head have feuded
One side has smothered, the other
The disease it spreads and begins to cover

Maggot infested soul of mine
Has painted me in a corner, confined
My vision is blurred, no reason, no rhyme
Help me escape these walls I climb

I'm drowning in my own shit, gasping
Gagging on the vomit asphyxiated
Looking for a grip on the soap with a rope
So I get clean and begin to cope
Scrub me till I'm raw, an open sore oozing
Unless I'm clean, I might start losing
My mind and my life would have a fucked-up ending
Thank god, if you ever see cleansing

Maggot infested soul of mine
Has painted me in a corner, confined
My vision is blurred, no reason, no rhyme
Help me escape these walls I climb

Sewn my eyes shut, can't you see I'm smothered?
Deaf, dumb and blind, dirt has covered
The windows which let the light shine through
Cleansing of the soul, for I am you
The windows that let the light shine through
Cleansing of the soul, for I am you
Cleansing of the soul, for I am you
Cleansing of the soul, for I am you

The last time I slept, I dreamt
Friend and I, we got so high
On top of mountains, deep in the sky
Way up high where the white goes by
The air is thin and hard to breathe

But with a friend near by your side

You can conquer world
Or wander around all starry-eyed
I laid there and dreamt along for a ride
Took in the journey, my friend beside
It all seemed so real, it all seemed surreal
My friend and I were one deep inside

These dreams come and go and are never the same
I await new journeys, asleep I remain
When I hold my eyes, shut tight I dream
I dream at night, through my dreams I scream
Why do people fuck, go and have to change?
What pushed my friend to tap the vein?
Asleep at night, I visit my friend
Asleep at night, I miss my friend

The dirt so thick it won't come clean
All around a haze like a smoke screen
I can't see you but you'll see me
But I might be gone before you count to three
The waters are totally polluted
The armies inside my head have feuded
One side has smothered, the other
The disease it spreads and begins to cover

Maggot infested soul of mine
Has painted me in a corner confined
My vision is blurred no reason, no rhyme
Help me escape these walls I climb

Sewn my eyes shut, can't you see I'm smothered?
Deaf, dumb and blind, dirt has covered
The windows which let the light shine through
Cleansing of the soul, for I am you
The windows that let the light shine through
Cleansing of the soul, for I am you
Cleansing of the soul, for I am you
Cleansing of the soul, for I am you
