we speak a different language but i know you feel the same we all see the mess we're in and scream for things to change unless the downward path we're on takes a different turn we're destined to repeat the past, a lesson never learned we fight for freedom - a call for revolution they are the problem - we are the solution their hypocrisy has enlightened me the walking contradiction that they claim to be the puppets promise lies, more lies the only truth they cant disguise the silent enemy, the cloaked and shaded manipulator, the great negator apocalyptic world war looms hands of time, countdown doom stand up and fight for what you believe if we don't do something we're all to blame bring down the evil corruption and greed it's always the same game with different names don't lose control and give up your freedom - rise up in arms, who the fuck needs 'em the right to fight is my god given right - don't give up your freedom, rise up and fight world wide death, no distinctions man's destiny is self extinction the pulse of propaganda, pumping confusion oozing chaos through their illusions annihilation on its way here obliteration of the entire sphere is it too late, is all hope lost? - can we stop the next holocaust?
