fuck that, this shit aint over til we say it's through this thing of ours is inside us through and true and we'll never surrender, there's no more time, it's not too late army of millions got our back til the end fuck enemies, we must rely on true friends but i refuse to save you if you waste your life on foolish hate no time to let this waste away - one life, don't let it slip away no time to let this waste away don't let it slip away don't throw it all away again the time is now to live each day like our last cuz time is fleeting and we might die real fast and without each other life can't be the same we stand together with our backs against the wall we fight each other, in the end we fight them all this is what we stand for, together until the very end

no time to let this waste away - one life,

we're broken, there's no hoping, no cure no remedy for this illness, for this distress, for this painful memory i thought i needed you to make me feel so painfully you killed me so slowly, hurt me maliciously but i loved you, now i hate you for everything that you did to me and i pray that one day soon, i get back what you took away from me look inside and you will see, the pain inside and my misery

the way you wasted our precious time, it blows my mind and fucks me up inside
the way you wasted our precious time,
it blows my mind and fucks me up inside

no time to let this waste away - one life,
