Nobody's born evil
We all possess some good
I think we have intentions
To live the way we should

But I fade inside
when you look at me and say you think I am naive
Just because I have faith and empathy

Changes, from all I know
Changes, from all I knew
You're changing
And I recognize no longer where I am in you

You think I have no dignity
When I am down on my knees
Compassion deserting me
You don't care for how I feel

Changes, from all I know
Changes, from all I knew
You're changing
And I recognize no longer where I am in you
