I should run, run away
Take my chance, as long as i could disobey
Your charming lips won't make me stay
I am close, much too close
You could see
My yearning face betrays myself
What foolish game we're about to play

And i try to resist - though you're irresistible
I will try, try so hard
But you're unpredictable
And i try to resist - and i try

And i try to resist - though you're irresistible
I will try, try so hard
But you're unpredictable
Yes i try to resist - though you're irresistible
I will try, try so hard
But you're unpredictable

As you talk, smile and walk
Enchant my senses
With all your magic innocence
What kind of influence
If i surrender all to you
Will i be trapped
Like a spider holds his victims tight
Are you playin' the same old game

And i try to resist - though you're irresistible
I will try, try so hard
But you're unpredictable
Yes i try to resist - though you're irresistible
I will try, try so hard
But you're unpredictable
