We need, more prisons, like a hole in the head
A prison is a home for the living dead
It is time for us to recognize that every man must be free
if we really want to see eternity

Understand that the spirit, is a prime source of life that can only be stifled, when put behind bars
We must all have an opportunity to shine like stars

We need more prisons like a hole in the head
Prisons create, living dead
Prisons create, living dead
