

Doc Walker

"Who Ever Made Those Rules"

Visit "Who Ever Made Those Rules" on MotoLyrics.com

Good things come to those who wait
And only fools rush in
I've let those words guide my fate
Time and time again

But nothings etched in stone
And I guess I should have known

Whoever made those rules
Never looked into your eyes
On a moonlight night
Who would have thought that I could have found
A love this strong
It can't be wrong
Less is more made sense before
But now I can't get enough
Baby you made a fool of who ever made those rules

Some say love will lose it's shine
Once the new wears off
The heat of passion fades with time
They could'nt be more wrong
I knew with just one look
That we would re-write the book

Whoever made those rules
Never looked into your eyes
On a moonlight night
Who would have thought that I could have found
A love this strong
Can't be wrong
Less is more made sense before
But now I can't get enough
Baby you made a fool of who ever made those rules
Baby you made a fool of who ever made those rules
Baby you made a fool of who ever made those rules

Visit Doc Walker page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.