"Devil's Jaw"

You had me where you wanted me alone and by myself so many years been beaten so badly afraid to enter to enter your realm again afraid of his wrath but through it all i got your message to stand up tall to lean on you for power and strength you'll see us through at any length it's time to stand and face my fear my power will grow with each step i take you send an army but i will take them down i await the title fight, me versus you this is your last stand - your last stand i know your pattern - i know your weakness i see you commin' from so far away this time i won't miss the devil's jaw this is your last stand
