Down these halls with many doors
Around each corner, right back where I started

Deep inside my mind, it seems
I try to find an open door to go through
So they can see that I'm all right

Wanderin' 'round inside without a key
Watching with these open eyes
Locked inside the place that no one sees
Talking to eternity, trying to explain

Why I'm stuck inside the maze
All the corners look the same
Thought I'd finally find the way
But I'm right back where I started

Now I'm stuck inside the maze
All the corners look the same
Thought I'd finally find the way

Another door, an empty room
No one seems to have been here for some time
Where have they gone?

Endless world of corridors
Searching for the one that shows the way
They look the same that I remain

Wanderin' 'round inside without a key
Watching through these open eyes
Locked inside the place that no one sees
Talking to eternity, trying to explain

Why I'm stuck inside the maze
All the corners look the same
Thought I'd finally find the way
But I'm right back where I started

Now I'm stuck inside the maze
All the corners look the same
Thought I'd finally find the way

Down these halls with many doors
Around each corner, right back where I started

Deep inside my mind it seems
I try to find an open door to go through
So they can see that I'm all right

Now I'm stuck inside the maze
All the corners look the same
Now I'm right back where I started
Another door, another room
I've been this way before
All the corners look the same

Now I'm stuck inside the maze
All the corners look the same
Now I'm stuck inside the maze
All the corners look the same
Now I'm stuck inside the maze
