No we can't control the evil that surround us

But as long as we're together that's enough

If there were just the two of us how different things would be

No one could come between us from now on

The wagging tongues would speak no more the sounds of gossip gone

Without a prying ear to fall upon

No we can't control the evil that surround us

But as long as we're together that's enough

Though we have no power over those around us

We can act as if there's just the two of us

[el.banjo - fiddle]

Though clouds of doubt may drift about upon a stormy sea

I'll only draw you nearer onto me

As long as we're together we'll never walk alone

We'll build a world of sunshine of our own

No we can't control the evil...
