Like the weather your heart changes with each season
Springtime summer fall and winter too
Though I know I'll never understand the reason
I still wonder why each season changes you

It was springtime when I found you like the flowers
And our love grew warmer with the summer sun
In the fall I could see our love was changing
It broke my heart to see what wintertime had done

Like the weather your heart changes...
[trumpet]
Came the spring again you said that you were sorry

And the summer brought a golden memory
In the fall I saw your love was changing
And the winter brought the same old misery

Like the weather your heart changes...
