(Dolly Parton)

I try hard to forget you and the love I once shared with you
But my mind won't let forgetfulness come in There's no use in pretending. The hurt is just beginning
Just when I think it's ending you're on my mind again
On my mind again, just like you've always been
On my mind with memories I'm rememberin'
On my mind again, just like you've always been
Yes, I find I've got you on my mind again

Sometimes I go to places where certain things erases
All traces of your memory, now and then

Oh, then something will remind me of the love I left behind me
Then again, your memory finds me and you're on my mind again

On my mind again, just like you've always been
On my mind with memories I'm rememberin'
On my mind again, just like you've always been
Yes, I find I've got you on my mind again
Yes, I find I've got you on my mind again
On my mind again
