(Dolly Parton)

Two people too proud to say I'm sorry
Two hearts too broken to ever mend
Too many harsh words too often spoken
Too late to find love together again.

To love and to cherish to honor and obey
Too many vows too hard to keep
Together we made them together we break them
Too late to start over the hurt is too deep,

Two people too proud to say I'm sorry
Two hearts too broken to ever mend
Too many harsh words too often spoken
Too late to find love together again.

Two careless people too selfish and too blind
To see that tomorrow someone has to pay
And too many children that never should have to
Will pay for too many mistakes made today.

Two people too proud to say I'm sorry
Two hearts too broken to ever mend
Too many harsh words too often spoken
Too late to find love together again...
