(Dolly Parton)

Whenever forever comes, when darkness shall hide
the sun
I'll still be shining with love for you
When glory bells chime, my love will ring true Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my love will be yours always

Whenever forever comes, when all things are said and done
I'll still be feeling the same way I do
I'll be there for you and still wanting you
God gave you to me, and me to you
And you will still be the one whenever forever comes

We'll float on a cloud through eternity
You'll gather the stars, you'll give them to me
I'll give you the moon and we'll replace the sun

Whenever forever comes, whenever forever comes

What would I have ever done had I not had you to love?
You've given me more than I ever dreamed Loving you more every day, so it seems
Greater than all other loves I have seen
Its essence will linger on whenever forever comes

We'll float on a cloud through eternity
You'll gather the stars, you'll give them to me
I'll give you the moon and we'll replace the sun
Whenever forever comes, whenever forever comes
