Oh! You take the long way home You slam the door, now you're living all alone If you fall asleep at the wheel, how will I know? Will I get a message in the morning that says... Oh, Hey hey now you're on your own, do do do... I wish I could take my words back about you (now you're on your own) I wanna stretch the sky over you! (now you're on your own) Oh, you wait for night to come To reminice all the days gone wrong But now the sun is set, and there is no wrong and right So pick up your dreams and push the past out of site Oh, well hey hey - now you're on your own, do do do... I wish I could take my words back about you (now you're on your own) I wanna stretch the sky over you! (now you're on your own)
